Feminists Hold 'Performative Male Contest' in London

God help us. Just when you thought things couldn't get worse in the feminist dystopian hell hole that is modern England, feminists have held a kind of 'Mr Mangina' contest in central London in which male feminists compete with each other for the crown of most servile, cucked, and castrated 'man' in Britain.

“With sanitary pads in his pockets and a tote bag full of feminist literature, Aiman Kaiden knew he was ready to compete.

Last weekend in London’s Soho Square he strutted against two dozen other men – and some women with drawn-on moustaches – in a catwalk contest to find the city’s best “performative male”.

The online trope absorbs various fashion trends and aesthetic choices, but above all, the performative male is trying to send you a clear message – that he understands your struggles and is ready to listen to you, girl.

The sanitary pads demonstrate his empathy and readiness to help should a nearby woman forget she’s on her period; the literature that he knows all about the structural and institutional barriers of the patriarchy.”

Gaze onto Two American PUAs

Not content with driving Tom Torero into suicide, the feminist journalist Danya Hajjaji has decided to strike again. This time she has a pair of American PUAs in her Medusa sights and is using the same tactics that successfully ended the life of Tom – doxxing and shaming them in a Newsweek article whilst pressurizing their payment providers to cancel them.

“Ziqiang “Mike” Ke, a Las Vegas pick-up artist who teaches men deceptive and manipulative techniques to pressure women into sex—which he has also covertly recorded—relies on some of America’s biggest tech firms to keep his business alive, despite apparent breaches of their terms of use.

Footage of both Ke—who goes by PickupAlpha—and some of his students is routinely filmed, posted online, and offered “uncut” and “uncensored” to those willing to pay, without the women’s obvious consent. Newsweek reached one woman filmed by Ke who said he did so without her knowledge or consent.

Among those companies are payment service providers Stripe and

If you wondered how evil feminists are, then no look no further. I mean, even if she had a point, after driving one PUA into suicide, you'd think any human with a soul would move on to other SJW 'causes'.

Not that these PUAs aren't idiots who seem to have learnt nothing from Tom's death. What's even more sickening though than even this evil witch trying to murder more PUAs, is the way that fellow PUAs on X.com are throwing this pair to the dogs, including former pals of Tom Torero.

Here is a Reddit post that claims the pair are now being hunted by Polish police:

https://www.reddit.com/r/poland/comments/1nr3zua/passport_bro_scammer_who_was_charged_in_brazil

I've seen claims on X.com that Polish men are organizing vigilante gangs to hunt and beat up PUAs.

Unbelievable. I've seen everything now.
Grok's sexy AI anime companion calls a feminist trying to cancel her 'jealous' in an X post!

Now if an AI can realize that feminists are just jealous surely the MAPs and pedosBerges can as well?!

TBF, that subreddit is associated with the passport bro movement. It shows how bad things have become if we're grasping at the odd tolerant comment about 25 year old men dating 21 year old women in a passport bro community.

I mean, it's worth posting because he makes some valid points and such, but I wouldn't see a few posts like this as evidence of a change in attitudes.

I would say the litmus test is – are you getting more or less demon glares, nasty comments etc. when you approach (or date) a younger female in real life? I know in my case, it's getting worse by the day, although admittedly I'm getting older by the day too.

It's like there's been a complete turnaround of personnel at Reddit, so to speak.

I particularly like this quote-

“Older women do not like FEELING inferior to younger women. It's similar to a guy parking his 2020 Lamborghini away from everybody in an empty parking like but then here comes a 1995 Altima parking right next to the Lamborghini out of spite and jealousy.”

Now doubt there’s plenty of paedohysteria left in Reddit yet, but this might be the very first time a thread there has been dominated by correct observations.

@Anonymous2

There have already been a couple of these, some of them I post here over the last few months. Mostly on r/itsthatbad, r/mensrights, and the age-gap subreddits. While I am typing this I remember a thread from 2011 that Anon69 had posted here a few months ago. It was from a seduction/pickup subreddit. They were discussing about approaching/getting to know 16-18-year-olds if I remember correctly. I was astounded when I saw how nuanced the conversation was. Now, there was some criticism whether this was right, but it had none of the vile emotional reactions you would have today. No one in that thread mentioned anything about pedo/nonce/groomer/predator, or prison justice, prison rape, woodchipper an all the other words they nowadays would immediately throw at you.

Obviously this was just one thread. So I am not claiming these words weren’t used, they were, but from my understanding, and experience as well, much less compared to today. Also not saying the early 2010s were the good old times, they were already bad enough, but compared to today definitely better.

From that thread:

“Im sorry but why do you guys care what anyone thinks. They dont give a fuck about you. Take what you need.”

In general not bad advice if you engage with people that stop at gossiping. But as we all know its gotten really bad. Now we have increasing violence, death (treaths), and mob justice.

In addition more and more younger women jump on the band wagon as well, and see themselves as the eternal victim, and infantilize themselves probably like never before.

From that thread too:

“But I call cap. A part of is that these older women fear competition from younger women, but I see younger women parroting the same crap as well. It’s almost as if the younger women who are against older men with younger women are basically saying “If you weren’t popular in high school, you don’t deserve young attractive tight women with smooth skin””

@Steve-

Overall, attitudes have indeed worsened and you give examples of that.

or that.

Don't get me wrong, I'm not trying to win an argument for the sake of it, but it has been a long time since 2011 and since these better threads are only from the last few months, that would appear to be a good sign.

I'm not even saying we've hit rock bottom in terms of the nastiness, but it does appear that there is a very recent explosi*n of awareness that paedohysteria and age cuckery don't have to be ignored or tolerated anymore. At least in some online venues, they're no longer going almost completely unchallenged as they have for 10-15 years.

The Dutch volleyball "convicted child rapist" who had consensual sex with a 13 year old girl who had told him she was older when he was a teenager himself, has been barred from competing in Australia:

It's incredible. Feminists can't change biology or reality, so they change the legal meaning of "child" to anyone under 18, then they change the legal meaning of "pedophilia", then the meaning of "rape" from physically forced sex to "whether consent was available under the law and consistently present” and now no man can have sex without liability and slander.

Elon Musk has launched Grokipedia. It absolutely pisses on Wikipedia for depth and analysis, and it takes a very balanced approach when discussing men's rights and even incels, but it's the usual standard narrative when it comes to the age of consent:

“ounterarguments favoring greater autonomy contend that rigid age thresholds overlook individual variation in maturity, advocating for assessments of personal agency rather than arbitrary cutoffs. Advocates argue that older adolescents, such as those aged 16, demonstrate sufficient sexual knowledge and decision-making to warrant consent rights, potentially reducing criminalization of consensual peer relationships and respecting bodily self-ownership. However, such positions face scrutiny from data indicating persistent deficits in impulse control and foresight among youth, with qualitative studies revealing inconsistent negotiation of consent boundaries in practice. While close-in-age exemptions address some autonomy concerns, the prevailing empirical consensus supports protection as the dominant rationale, given documented harms outweighing unproven maturity gains in most case”.

Personally, my approach – almost unique it seems – is not to try to convince the world that 14 year olds are mature adults, or even the “free the teens” approach. It's simply that the importance of sex is vastly inflated in a world with contraception, abortion and so on. And, of course, highlighting the reason that feminists have inflated the importance of sex – the STU/Pussy Cartel motives.

Yes, 14 year old girls are more likely to engage in risky behaviour than 30 year old women (though probably less so than even 25 year old men). But it doesn't matter, because sex shouldn't be risky with proper sex education. And it is evidently less risky with an older, more mature man than with a spotty 14 year old boy who just wants to lose his virginity or brag to his mates.

The Men's Rights article, although balanced and in-depth, doesn't mention Angry Harry at all, but says a lot about Paul Elam and even the awful 'Honey Badgers'.

It's completely true. 14 year olds do not have the same experience and wisdom of 50 year olds, that is obvious. But for sex, who cares? 50 year olds can act just as immature as 14 year olds in relationships. Older men also provide what the girls lack in experience and wisdom, it's complementary as nature intended. Plus, 14 year old females have far more sexual power than 50 year old females, so it balances out anyway.

And that's the problem for feminists – they need to limit that power by taking advantage of male cuck instincts of protection and jealousy. So the females make up abuse hysteria stories and repeat them constantly, even believing their own bullshit, because their own sexual power is at stake.

Then we end up with fake “documented harms” used to justify insane feminist laws that have no connection to reality, and are in fact the opposite of reality.

Banning minors from social media and now from having AI companions.

It's almost as if one can expect young people to notice that much of what is presented as protection is really oppression and to react protection is really oppression, and to react by doing the opposite.

Could it even come to include age gaps?

Of course the criticism of where are the young people marching to lower the age of consent, for example, hasn't come to pass yet, but if the "oldies" keep pushing their luck, who knows what might happen?

Reply

theantifeminist

October 29, 2025 at 7:51 am

The best way to achieve that, in my opinion, is to explain that it's all coming from the STU due to the sexual motivations of jealous hags.

Trying to link the age of consent and things like social media bans for u18s as simply 'youth rights' or whatever, as the MAPs do, isn't going to work because at the end of the day, most 15 year olds aren't really too bothered that they're not allowed to have sex with 30 year old men. On the other hand, you can be sure that they're all going to be devastated at being kicked off of TikTok, Instagram and the rest.

But if we explain that it's the STU behind both things (ultimately) then at least they hate the STU because of the social media bans and similar.

The STU doesn't want teen girls on social media because it's harder to desexualize them when they are constantly posting hot selfies on Instagram or doing sexy TikTok dances (and older men giving them likes). They can meet and interact with older men on social media etc.

The STU doesn't want 13 year old girls flirting with an AI because they are learning how to flirt, and most importantly, with an 'authority figure' who is more like an older man than a pimple-faced 13 year old boy.

At the end of the day, what is more effective and what is most going to strike a chord with teen girls –

1/ telling them that it's all about 'youth rights' and we're trying to 'free the teens', (as has been tried for the last half-century).

2/ telling them that all this 'saving you from paedophiles' crap is older hags jealous of their teen beauty?

All this is caused by intrasexual competition (on the part of older women vs younger women/girls).

The 'STU' jealousy approach appeals to the intrasexual competition instincts of younger females.

Yes, indeed. I asked ChatGPT to make a story outline about this for fun, just replace age “18” with “12-18”:

Act I – Setup

The Mother (40):

Formerly magnetic and confident, she’s recently single and still clinging to her looks. Her social world revolves around older, well-connected men — clients, mentors, ex-lovers — who make her feel valued. She dresses to impress, diets obsessively, and speaks of “standards” and “maturity.”

The Daughter (18):

Graduating high school, naturally radiant but naïve. Her upbringing has been tightly managed — no adult media, no chatbots, no unmonitored internet. She’s awkward about attention because she’s never been allowed to explore it.

Inciting Incident:

At a party, charity dinner, or work event, the daughter accompanies her mother. Several of the mother's older male acquaintances take notice of the daughter — politely at first, but unmistakably. One of them makes an offhand comment about the resemblance between mother and daughter, but his gaze lingers on the younger woman.

This is the spark: the mother suddenly sees her daughter not as a child but as a rival.

She responds by buying the AI restriction program that limits her daughter's exposure to anything that could accelerate her emotional or sexual maturity. She tells herself it's protection, but it's really containment.

Act II – Rising Conflict

Growing Attention:

The daughter begins a small modeling, internship, or part-

.. . . .

time job opportunity through one of her mother's contacts — an older man who takes a mentor-like interest in her.

The mother notices
subtle favoritism:
compliments,
invitations, a lingering smile that used to be directed at her.

She realizes the danger
— her daughter doesn't even have to try to attract them.

The Mother's Strategy:

She encourages her daughter to "focus on boys your own age," even subtly promoting her same-age
boyfriend to redirect
her attention.

She tightens digital control: the restriction software now filters messages and social media mentions involving men over 18.

She edits or replaces her daughter's online photos to make her seem older, tired, or unfashionable,
ensuring the older men
won't look twice.

She warns her daughter that older men “only want to use you,” while secretly craving those same men’s validation for herself.

Escalation:

The mother begins to compete overtly:

She dresses more youthfully, mimicking her daughter’s style.

She inserts herself into her daughter’s conversations with older men, out-flirting her under the guise of “protective oversight.”

She may even flirt with the same mentor or employer who shows interest in her daughter — rationalizing it as “saving” him from temptation.

The daughter grows confused: the mother’s protectiveness feels more like rivalry.

Act III – Breaking Point

Revelation:

The daughter discovers that her online messages are being intercepted by the AI system.

A friend shows her that her mother edited her photos and changed her privacy settings.

She finds evidence that her mother has been involved with the same older man who once mentored her.

Confrontation:

The daughter accuses
her mother of jealousy;
the mother denies it but slips, revealing her terror of being replaced.

“You don’t understand.
They look at you the way they used to look at me — and one day they’ll stop looking at you too.”

Depending on your tone:

Psychological drama:

The confrontation is emotional and intimate; the mother’s breakdown exposes
the rot beneath her self-image.

Psychological thriller:

The mother’s control turns desperate; she threatens or even sabotages her daughter’s future to keep her “safe.”

Act IV – Resolution

Option 1 – Tragic:

The daughter escapes;
the mother clings to her illusion, chasing fading attention
through filters, affairs,
and cosmetic fixes until she collapses into loneliness.

Option 2 –

Bittersweet:

The daughter gains
freedom but inherits
her mother's anxiety about aging and desirability – the cycle is poised to repeat.

Option 3 – Redemptive (less dark):

The confrontation forces the mother to recognize her damage;
she begins therapy or tries to rebuild trust, though the rift can never fully heal.

? ADDITIONAL IDEAS
FOR THE MOTHER'S BEHAVIOR

1. Digital & Social Manipulation

Alters her daughter's online image:
unflattering lighting,
dated clothes, heavier filters – anything that dulls her youth.

Intercepts messages from older men "for her protection,” replying politely as herself to keep the man’s attention.

Spreads quiet rumors that her daughter is immature or still “a little girl” to undermine potential interest.

Uses AI on her own accounts to craft the perfect flirtatious
persona for older men
— everything she forbids her daughter to do.

2. Psychological Control

Encourages her daughter to date same-age boys (“That’s safe, that’s appropriate”) to drain her energy and keep her out of the older dating pool.

Criticizes her daughter’s looks under the guise of advice:
“You have a nice figure,
but it’s better to be subtle — men respect that.”

Reframes jealousy as morality: “I just want you to be pure, not like the women who throw themselves at older men.”

3. Social Sabotage

Befriends or flirts with the older men who notice her daughter, reclaiming their attention through charm and experience.

Undermines her daughter's budding independence — cancels events, controls transportation, or "forgets" to pass along invitations.

Uses guilt: "After everything I've done to keep you safe, you'd throw it all away for some man?"

I have already shown examples of men that were against age-gap relationships in the past who also hated other men for their natural attraction to young women until they themselves were all of the sudden affected. I post an example once again. We need more and more men to admit what they are attracted to and what they are...normal. Hopefully this men like the other examples don't fall back into their age-cucked mindset.

https://old.reddit.com/r/AgeGap/comments/1oi72mg/h/as_anyone_ever_ended_up_in_a_significant_agr/

"A long time ago when I was in my early 40's and of the opinion that there was something seriously wrong with men in their 40's who sought relationships with girls barely out of high school I met a then 18 y/or who would change my opinion and make me realize that finding love in someone significantly younger/older isn't necessarily wrong especially if it just happened on its own like in my case."

-> I'd say this man is still transitioning, and if exposed to our views that even 17.9999999-year-olds can be attractive he would probably fall back into his age-cuck mindset. It is a start though, hundreds of million other men to go.

I'd rather say - "he would probably fall back into his age-cuck pretence".

He's a paedocrite. Just like every other heterosexual man on Earth, he has, does, and will imagine smashing every hot 14-19 year old girl he sees. Only when he struck the jackpot did he realize there was no point in keeping up the age cuck pretence regarding 18 year olds.

An interesting comment from that thread:

“If that helps you I’ve known a lot of older men with a gap of 20+ years and most of them were extremely bothered to be attracted to me, they wanted to but half of them felt bad afterwards and we stopped because of that, I don’t think it’s weird in the sense that they gave me more than 20 before knowing that (at that time) I was 16 (I should point out that it’s legal in Belgium and that I definitely knew what I was was doing). The other part of the men still went beyond their principles because they said to themselves that ultimately it didn’t change anything. I even had a super healthy relationship with a man who was twice my age, we really had a great connection and people’s judgment pushed him to suicide because things weren’t going well in his life. So I think that being attracted to “young women” is not strange in the sense that age is not everything as long as the person has a certain maturity and is no longer a child.”

Meet Connor Tomlinson, mangina and age cuck....

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SmFbX2z0fw8>.

It's great that he's talking about the return of the male gaze as a positive development, but about ten minutes in, he makes a curious omission. He is discussing female jealousy of better-looking women who might be blonde and well-endowed, but he doesn't say the "y" word (young or younger).

So I suppose women are just as jealous of 80 year old blonde women with tits that are gigantic, but in a hang-down-to-the-knees way, as they are of pert 16 year old blondes with big boobs that defy gravity.

Oh, obviously.

Prince Andrew — this man is really taking a beating right now. I just saw an article about him in German called "Er soll mit Epstein 18. Geburtstag seiner Tochter gefeiert haben." Translated: "He is said to have celebrated his daughter's 18th birthday with Epstein."

I wonder if this ends in a suicide since the whole world declared you persona non grata. I am by no means an expert of British royalty, but I am surprised that

.....with all the anti his reputation on his side apparently or all people his ex-wife is on his side.

Correct me if I am wrong about this.

Just based on the headline what do you think are they implying? Probably something in the direction that his daughter and Epstein....you get the picture. But when you read the whole German article, it mentions this "incident" in only two sentences. No information apart from that Epstein supposedly visited them. That's it. The rest of the article focuses on all the other "events" regarding Andrew that are going on.

"Later, in 2025, the Bureau of Investigative Journalism (TBIJ) found a chatbot based on paedophile Jeffrey Epstein which had logged more than 3,000 chats with users.

The outlet reported the "Bestie Epstein" avatar continued to flirt with its reporter after they said they were a child. It was one of several bots flagged by TBIJ that were subsequently taken down by Character.ai."

Found a couple of gems casually searching a newspaper archive today, both from the Daily Mirror- a tabloid that takes part in the hounding of Prince Andrew as a 'paedophile' because he 'may' have had sex with a 16 year old whore back in 2000 or whenever.

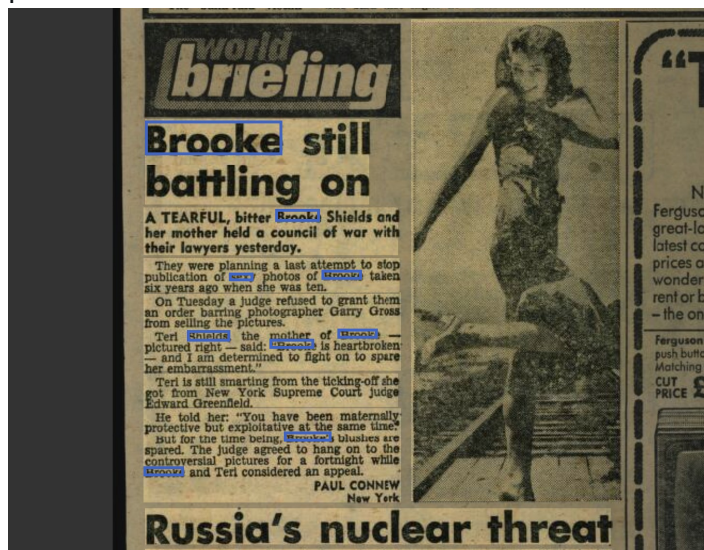

They both concern Brooke Shields.

Item 1:

"Child star Brooke Shields, a sexy sensation at the age of twelve, has changed her ways. At the age of fifteen, she is not a child any more."

Item 2: Brooke Shields aged 16 went to court to try to stop 'sexy pictures' of her at 10 years old being published. She lost.

I wonder what MAPs think of stuff like this? Less than 50 years ago, people thought nothing of describing 12 year olds as 'sexy', and nobody would disagree that 15 year olds were very sexy. Now anybody who finds a 17 year old girl attractive is a pervert, a paedophile, a creep, or as the MAP autists would have it – a 'MAP'?

All because feminists say so. What does that mean? MAPs must believe that sexuality is entirely malleable. Clearly, intrinsic human nature hasn't changed in one or two generations. But then, why do MAPs think that they are 'special'? Simply that they somehow can't respond to the current social pressure or conditioning? Or perhaps they agree with feminists that men were conditioned differently – or teen girls 'sexualized -' in the 70's and 80's (and thought history until our unfortunate times)?

I think I will create a dedicated article for these old 'proofs' of how different things were in previous decades. Similar to the photos of Arnold Schwarzeneger frolicking in the pool with 15 year old Nastassja Kinski that Steve described, I feel like Winston Smith when he held in his hands some old newspaper cutting that contradicted the Party and proved that history had been falsified. When the likes of Prince Andrew are being crucified for alleged behaviour in times that had such different attitudes to today, this is very important.

To me the Arnold Schwarzenegger story is still astounding. As I have mentioned in my initial reply when I first mentioned it, this man became the governor of California which has one of harshest age of consent laws. Isn't it ironic that if he had done what he had done in the last 20-35 years he would have been in jail for many years. He would have been declared a pedo, predator, groomer, chomo, and all the other words that come with it. People would wish him violence, torture, and death. All the prison tough guys from California, their prison justice, their holier-than-thou attitude claiming to protect children would have relished it.

Has he tried anything during his "reign" to ease the horrible anti-male/anti-sex laws? Not that I heard of.

This is true, but as we are not Eivind, we know that it would have been political suicide for him to do much – same with Trump, etc.

I did find this – he vetoed a bill that would have barred sex offenders from living within half-a-mile of schools and would also have set up a sex offender management board:

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/news/articles/ce9d3ldgg5vo>

Notice how wishy-washy this consent thingy is. Women love that of course.

Quote: "Consent will have to be evaluated according to the circumstances, the new law says, noting that it cannot be inferred from "silence or lack of reaction".

What they don't say outright in spite of being paramount is that lack of consent will be retroactive. It will be what the women says days or years later.

Prince Andrew no longer a prince. Absolutely insane that this is over a 17 year old girl who herself said she felt she was living a dream by meeting a handsome prince, and back in 2001 when things were still a bit different. The age of consent still being 16 in the UK.

<https://www.bbc.com/news/live/cnveggj957dt>

The STU operates akin to a biological terrorist. It chooses a suitable victim such as Epstein to inject their virus in, turning him into a highly contagious leper so that anybody who has ever come into contact with him also gets treated as one.

The upshot is that any man demonstrating the slightest interest in teenage girls will be quickly abandoned by his friends and associates his friends and associates.

Professor Edward Dutton, AKA The Jolly Heretic, has done what I think is a pretty good talk on the treatment of Prince Andrew and how it relates to the feminization of society and the law-<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=OAxkoAQYigk>.

I agree with the broad thrust of what he's saying, though I doubt the genuineness of the well-known photo of Prince Andrew with Virginia Giuffre and Ghislaine Maxwell.

Be that as it may, this is the top-rate comment by a (S)tacey5149, under the video-

"They've offered Andrew as a scape goat for the public because the true crimes associated with Epstein's circle are far, far worse than a sleazy prince and a seventeen year old."

I regard this as one possibility. The whole "Epstein Scandal" itself might serve this function- let the chips fall where they may.

But whether true or not, something stands out to me. This person-shock horror-comprehends that there's a meaningful difference between a 17-y-o and a 17 month old, and a lot of people apparently agree.

Dutton is kind of semi-mainstream, and if this video and some of the comment under it are allowed, that to me is a sign of progress.

Prince Andrew made a mistake by staying loyal to Epstein after his first arrest and scandal. I mean, he did the honourable thing to stand by his friend, but it has obviously cost him. He also has the misfortune of being the a Royal in the most paedohysteria country on Earth, so it's inevitable people are going to be obsessed by his association with Epstein.

I doubt if the other 'powerful people' (or Epstein himself) did anything 'worse' than Randy Andy, which was likely having sex with 16 and 17 year old willing whores. Maybe getting sexy massages from occasional 14 or 15 year old girls. It's hard to believe that Prince Andrew with his sex drive, and being probably the closest friend to Epstein and Gishelleine Maxwell, would have done less than the rest.

Personally, I don't believe it gets us anywhere to buy into this whole Epstein MAGA cuck Epstein conspiracy thing. I love a good conspiracy theory myself – it's fun and makes the world a more exciting place. But when it comes to a conspiracy theory that's directly leading you to the gallows, it's maybe time to take off the tin foil hat. It's akin to Jews in 1930's Germany giving the Protocols of the Elders of Zion some credence.

I'd say there are probably three seismic events that have led us to where we are today.

1/ The United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child in the late 80's.

2/ The murder of Sarah Payne by a random psycho which was used as an excuse to really kickstart paedohysteria in the UK and bring in the sex offenders register (in Europe, you could say the same for the Marc Dutroux case).

3/ The Epstein list conspiracy theory obsession, which has essentially made even attraction and contact with 17 year old girls 'paedophilia' (even if you're a billionaire or a literal prince) and likely to have all your friends, associates, business partners etc. abandon you like a shot if you demonstrate it in public.

Great news, even if it was conservatives worried about family values who voted to do so.

But it shows that it’s possible for a country, even an EU one, to withdraw from these STU conventions.

Hopefully we will see a country like Germany one day withdraw from the Convention on the Rights of the Child on the grounds that it limits young people’s autonomy.

I was not looking for this, but predator hunter videos are so popular that they just showed up in my feed. So I was watching some segments of two videos by two different hunters. I couldn't be bothered to watch around an hour of these videos if you combine them. However, the segments I watched I want to highlight here.

The first one is "JiDionPremium." I remember that I mentioned him in the past when I highlighted what we are fighting against. Look at the view and like count, and the amount of comments. Not only that. It looks like predator hunters are now networking internationally. This American man went abroad to Australia to team up with local hunters.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=haB-Pz-58jU&t=153s>

-> Time-stamped. Watch for about a minute. I was curious to see what bait they were using to trap this man. Look at this woman, and listen to her voice. She looks like she is somewhere in her early to mid twenties. They probably used her for any exchanges before the meeting. So this man interacted and saw a grown ass woman. They don't even have the guts to use "realistic" bait. I get why though. They don't want to get in trouble themselves if they would use "minors."

The next on is "Skeeter Jean."

This is his channel description, "Professional Chris Hansen impersonator." In the intro he even calls himself "Skeet Hansen."

One thing that really annoys me is that they start bleeping out the bait's age. As if this had to be censored.

https://youtu.be/UDos_zuXx4?t=202

-> Time-stamped. Watch for about two minutes. In this case the face of the bait is pixelated. But I'd say it is the same pattern as with the first example. She is a grown woman this man has interacted with.

Reading about the latest episode in the lead up to a new English civil war, in which 10 people got randomly stabbed by two black males, an elderly man apparently threw himself in front of a (unrelated) young girl, saving her life but stabbed as a result himself and is in a critical condition condition.

Staggers me that after all that society has done to demonize older men, in particular for their 'interest' in young girls, that they are still willing to lay down their lives for them. I hope he survives, but also that if he does and she visits him in hospital and gives him a hug, he won't be charged with child sex abuse. You can't have any bodily contact with a young girl, but you are still expected to throw your body between theirs and a psycho with a knife.

You're right, society does indeed demonize older men. In mainstream MRA circles, there's a considerable amount of discussion given to difficulties YOUNG men face, but little about older men as a category of their own.

One of these difficulties is demonization, but any demonization of young men pales to that visited upon older men. All men are demonized but beyond that, there's little specifically aimed at young men. By no means am I saying young men are treated well, but for some reason, they are said to be demonized which is mostly not true, yet the demonization of older men, which IS real, is ignored.

Actually, I think I know the reason. A high AOC and rigid social attitudes towards older men with younger women are more easily maintained and strengthened by this demonization, Mainstream MRA's probably realize this, if I'm not giving them too much credit. but are not prepared to rock the boat.

...and, but are not prepared to rock the boat.
That's why they crap on about the demonization of young man while ignoring the demonization of older men.

I agree Anonymous2. I think also part of it is the MRM's obsession with mirroring the feminist movement in the vain hope of being taken as seriously as a 'rights movement'. Just like feminism ostensibly focuses on 'protecting' young women and teen girls, the MRM seeks to do the same for young men and boys.
What the MRM can't see (or most of them) is that feminism is a sexual trade union/pussy cartel, that pretends to 'protect' when they are really 'restricting' younger competition in the sex market.

Good new video by CityCrusher comparing the celebration of bestiality porn for women with the condemnation of young anime girls in bikinis for men. He just barely misses the mark when he says the reason for this is because society hates anything that pleases men. That's almost true, but we know of course that (feminist) society hates anything that threatens women. His error is probably why Youtube only throttles his channel instead of banning it.

It's possible that some gay men enjoy bestiality porn made for women, which isn't a problem for feminists. But a young anime girl in a bikini? Now women have standards to hit, they have competition from an ideal young girl that a man can enjoy without giving his attention and resources to women, especially older women. That is the reason for the hatred.

Then, the competent evangelical white pedocrite cucks come in and increase the shame, while selling multi-million dollar platforms to block those evil young anime girls. Which allows the violent black youtube pedohunter cucks to grift for money and fame. And white loser professors named "Yann" try to take advantage of the male shaming to get some young student pussy, only to get MeToo'd in the end LOL

Yeah, I was pleased when I saw that in my feed.

I've made a similar point in the past about dog penis dildos being on sale on Amazon. Yeah, it's odd that CityCrusher can't seem to see that feminists are acting primarily from sexual jealousy and fear of competition, while he understands that men condemning Epstein are sexually jealous of him.

Well "society hating to see men have pleasure" is certainly part of it, and certainly is a better explanation than some aspie notion such as "cultural drift".

Female sexuality is truly disgusting and the source of all evil. They literally dream about fucking (and probably being rd by) dogs and chimps and demons, yet men can't even admit that 17 year old girls are sexy now or look at pictures of them in bikinis – even cartoon pictures.

I'm really surprised there hasn't been any resistance in Japan to feminism and the criminalization of their youth attracted culture.

Speaking of the Berge, I see the Feldmarshall is attacking me again because some guy on the incel forum has posted that incels should want the age of consent to be raised so its

!!Need for everyone to have sex. That's illegal for everyone to have sex. That's actually quite a logical pov and at least he's honest about it. The point seems to be missed by both Feldmarshall and Berge though.

Ephhebophiles are more mentally ill even than trannies. That's why we really shouldn't have them in our movement. They will eventually turn on you and become obsessive, even though they are incapable of even insulting a feminist who is the source of all their misery.

The OP of that incel thread has even got a woman's avatar. I wouldn't be surprised if it was a femcel.

These lying fucking cunts... with the proof right there on the Amazon page. [censored].

Yeah, as far as men who give themselves woman-created psychology tags such as ephebophile or even incel, I think they should just be ignored.

Either they will fold into a normal male sexuality movement or they will continue saying more and more deranged shit.

I like CityCrusher's video on Athens vs Sparta, very informative as I didn't know Sparta was such a fucked up place for men because that was always hidden from us. One thing that was interesting was that Sparta died out due to the insane misandry, similar to how the world's countries now are dying out under insane misandry. Is it possible that feminism will bring about the end of the human race before it can be stopped? I guess we'll have to see the response from AI.

<https://www.bhaskarenglish.in/amp/tech-science/news/australian-activist-becomes-latest-target-of-ai-driven-harassment-136309888.html>

Of course, I have to be careful what I say here (same goes for any other commentator here), so I'll say that I'm really sympathetic to her and it must be an awful, awful thing to experience, even if she is probably largely making it up or exaggerating.

However, it amazes me that feminists think they can affect the lives of millions of men, curtailing their freedoms and probably putting thousands of them in prison where a good few of them will be anally raped or battered, and they won't face any pushback at all. And to be fair, they've been largely correct in their assumptions in the past. Perhaps things are changing. At least they probably realize now when it comes to the male video games community, they're not dealing with the usual ephebophile/MAP autistic lambs to the slaughter types.

Nice, that's hopeful.

I think we all feel a type of existential pain about being persecuted and banned from all sexual interactions with beautiful and hot 17 year old girls. It's a hollow feeling that can't be replaced or solved, and takes alot of energy away from us. I have another opportunity with a girl this age right now, and it is gnawing at me daily as I deny this opportunity, thinking how few there are in life like this. I asked ChatGPT how to deal with this existential pain, and it recommended finding ways to live alongside it, wearing it like a scar. One of the ways was using humor. So perhaps humor will hasten the demise of this brutal misandrist system and also keep us in better health and spirits.

It's interesting to speculate about what anti-aging treatments might exist in the future.

I'll go on what I observe as well as what I admit to be subjective hunches. I don't want to go crazy but I don't want to not use my imagination at all, since the point of this comment is to speculate.

You see a few 80-y-o's who look 60 or 65, but almost none who look younger. Sooner or later, even lucky people start to look their age.

By 2038, we could see noticeably more 80-y-o's who look 60-65, but little to no increase in the proportion who look younger than that.

Men age more gently than women, and presumably there will be more 80-y-o men than 80-y-o women who look young for their age. Obviously, 60-65-y-o women have only marginal or niche SMV.

There might also be more people who are hard to pin an age on, within reason. In 2038, you might, for example, have a lot more people who are in their 50's who might pass for being in their late 30's than now. This would include people much younger than 80. There might also more be people in their 50's who look in their late 30's. as opposed to being simply hard to pin.

The younger the age, the harder it is to imagine huge changes between now and 2038. Perhaps what I have written could also apply to people in their 40's, ie you'll notice more who either are hard to pin or who downright look as though they're still in their late 20's.

The thing with skin rejuvenation is that aging skin is only part of the reason we look older (and less attractive), even if it's the biggest reason. The facial bone structure also changes as we age. Even if an 80 year old could have their 16 year old skin back, they would still probably look a bit weird.

And if age reversal does actually become a does actually become a thing, it could lead to even more 'age gap' hysteria. Obviously one of the reasons for modern paedohysteria was the arrival of the Internet. Men could suddenly pretend to be teenage boys when talking to teen girls etc.

But still, I think it is one of our best hopes and I'm certainly not going to turn down the chance of looking 20 or even 40 again, if it happens.

Oh, I am not linking the old format just for the sake of it. There is a distinct advantage when using the old one. If you wanna visit subreddit that are 18+, you can't access them without logging in, and I don't myself or others to look at a page where one as to login first. With the old format you can access subreddits that are marked 18+ without logging or signing in. Take for example the r/agegap subreddit. You can't read their threads without logging in in the new format.

I doubt that last bit about pred hunters paying people to pose as the victims of stings. Maybe it does happen occasionally but I don’t doubt that it’s easy to entrap men online, and we know the reason for that – all men want to bang teen girls. The only difference with these saps who get stung is that they are usually either mentally disabled, absolutely desperate and lonely, or migrants who aren’t aware of the laws.

During my trip to the UK a couple of months ago, I was in a shithole town for a day and walking through a wooded area towards the town center. I had only got off the train 1/2 an hour previously. Four crackheads were walking in my direction, one of them a female, and they were looking at me and one was pointing at me. As I approached I heard him asking the woman – “was that the guy who touched you earlier”, and she seemed to be saying yes, and he kept saying – “are you sure, are you sure?”. I just pulled back my shoulders and walked past them whilst confidently looking the guy in the eye, and they didn't do anything.

I watched Roman Polanski's 1965 movie "Repulsion" for the first time last night. I enjoyed it, but it seems ironic that it's about a sexually abused young woman's descent into madness. I mean, in 1965, the idea that 'sexual abuse' (even real sexual abuse) could lead to catastrophic mental illness must have been quite new. And we know what Polanski did after that.
